Henry Freeman, 25, 1601 Oklahoma St. An attendant at the Uptown Shell Service Station 131 South Kingshighway, may have been blinded as the result of battery acid thrown in his face in a fight at 3:18 p.m. Saturday.

Lloyd Adams, 614 Delmar St., drove into the station, and, after throwing acid in Freeman's face, began to beat him. Two other men at the station pulled Adams away from Freeman. Adams then got into his 1965 Ford Thunderbird and fled. Police picked him up several hours later.

Freeman suffered acid burns of the face. Police said a doctors report stated, it is uncertain he will ever see again.

Early today, Adams was charged with assault and destruction of private property.

The destruction of private property charge was made by Paul David, Houston, Tex. His car was at the station when the fight occurred and the acid damaged the hood, top and right side of his car.

Portageville Man Sought For Shooting

PORTAGEVILLE--Police Chief Joe Moore reported Johnnie Nelson, 52, is being sought in connection with the shooting of Nathaniel Banks, 35, and Robert Lee Foster, 32, all of Portageville.

Moore said the shooting occurred 1:45 a.m. Saturday following an argument between Nelson and Banks, reportedly over a card game at the Dew Drop Inn. It is reported Nelson went outside and got a gun from his car and shot at Banks through a front screen door. A slug from a .410 shotgun passed through Banks' abdomen and struck Foster in a leg. Foster was standing nearby.

Banks is in serious condition at a Memphis hospital. Foster was treated and released at a hospital in Hayti.

Burglars Hit in Force At Lilbourn

LILBOURN--Police are investigating seven burglaries which occurred Friday night, Johnny Morton, city marshal said.

Two watches and $25 from two cash registers were stolen from Jones Drug Store, owned by Bill Jones, after entry was gained by breaking a front door glass.

Four cigarette lighters from The Toy Store were stolen after the front door was broken.

Quality Cleaners, owned by Josephine Barnes and Mavis Fredericks, which adjoins the Toy Store, was entered but nothing was taken.

Two gum machines and pennies were taken from a restaurant owned by George Lewis.

Ten dollars from a cash register and some cigarettes were stolen from Louis Christopher's garage.

Two watches and three to five dollars were stolen from Lilbourn Lumber Company, owned by Speedy Collier, after a back door was pried open.

Storm Damages Riverfront Area

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Weekend thunderstorms have left residents of Southeastern Missouri and Southern Illinois with a huge clean-up job for the second week in a row.

One man was killed, power lines were toppled, and on the St. Louis riverfront the Santa Maria, replica of Christopher Columbus' flagship, was sunk Saturday night.

Robert Holcomb of East St. Louis, Ill., an employee of the Union Electric Co., was electrocuted while working on storm damaged lines.

The Santa Maria was tied alongside the Becky Thatcher, a restaurant boat, at the St. Louis pier on the Mississippi River. Rocked by the windstorm, the Becky Thatcher snapped her mooring lines and went adrift, taking the 80-foot wooden Santa Maria along.

Eighty-one persons on the Thatcher remained calm, said Mrs. Sandra Landers, a waitress.

Removal of Highway Barricades

Barricades on Interstate 55 from Cape Girardeau to Scott City will be removed today, Harold W. Kerr, construction inspector of the Cape Girardeau Highway Dept., said today.

Workmen are still placing asphalt along the highway, so there will be one-lane traffic during daylight hours. At night, traffic will be two-way.

Bombing Incidents Hit Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Two explosive bombs and two firebombs were set off in separate areas of the city Sunday, one wrecking the first floor of the University of Washington's administration building.

Police said two of the bombings appeared to be linked.

No one was injured.

The last of the incidents occurred shortly before midnight, when a paint store front was wrecked by a bomb made from explosives placed in a sawed-off segment of an automobile exhaust pipe.

John Cyra, owner of the firm said the bomb was placed inside a plywood cover he had put over the window after a firebomb had broken it three weeks ago.

Astromonk Faring Well

WASHINGTON (AP) - Bonny, the mild mannered "astromonk" who finds himself 200 miles above the earth today, is reported doing well, munching food pellets, sipping water and whipping through "task cycles" cued by electric shocks.

The Thailand pigtail monkey, wired so as to tell just about everything of weightlessness in space, was launched from Cape Kennedy Saturday night in a Delta rocket.

Two Fire Calls During Weekend

Fires were reported at 4:50 p.m. and at 10:05 p.m. yesterday, acting Fire Chief Dolph Webb said today.

At 4:50 p.m. in the Liberty Supermarket Parking lot, the carburetor of a 1960 Ford Falcon backfired and caught the hood of the car on fire. Vivian Chaney owns the car.

At 10:05 p.m., a tree caught fire at 913 South Prairie St.

Surtax up For Crucial House Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican political arithmetic is pointing toward House approval of President Nixon's proposed surtax extension, but party discipline must hold and supporters concede their margin is narrow.

The extension bill, facing a crucial House test today, has Democratic as well as Republican leaders supporting it. But a large block of Democrats has opposed any long extension until the broader issue of tax reform has been settled.

Nixon forces have given top priority to extending the surtax at 10 per cent through Dec. 31 and then at 5 per cent through June 30, 1970 as part of the administration's anti-inflation moves.

House passage doesn't assure the extension since Senate Democrats are determined to write some meaningful tax-law changes. They call it closing loopholes, and insist the people back home won't stand for any delay.

Passage of the surtax at Nixon's proposed level would bring in an estimated $7.64 billion in the first year and contribute to a $6.8 billion surplus in the unified government budget.

The administration contends such a surplus is desperately needed to dampen inflation, reduce the government's competition for scarce credit and bolster confidence in the dollar abroad.

If Congress fails to approve, an administration spokesman predicted, the psychological effect would be devastating—more inflation with businesses and individuals rushing to buy and borrow, thus feeding the inflation.

The opposition contends the surtax has not been effective against inflation.

Democratic liberals argued, moreover, unless the surtax is tied closely to substantial tax reforms, the chance to ram these through the present Congress may be lost.

Vote Survey Indicates Approval of City Manager

Policemen Attacked After Argument at Charleston

CHARLESTON--Six city policemen and Mississippi County Sheriff W.J. "Pedro" Simmons were called to the Negro section of the city early Sunday morning to handle a minor riot. The fracas originated following a quarrel between two small girls. Persons at the scene said there more than 30 persons involved.

Sheriff Simmons said that he had made two arrests "early this morning, taking into custody Negroes Willie Lee Jones and Herschel Henry Brown, and jailed them on charges of throwing rocks and bottles at police and for investigation of arson. Jones will probably be released on bond but Brown -- a parole violator -- will remain in jail," the sheriff said.

Air Service Announced For Cape

Trans-Mo Airlines, Jefferson City, and airline service which has been in preliminary negotiations with officials in Sikeston about beginning flights from Sikeston to St. Louis, has started operations in Cape Girardeau.

Trans-Mo started operating in Cape Girardeau today with two flights daily out of the city air facility. Paul C. Miles, president of the Cape Girardeau Municipal Airport Board said.

Sikeston City Manager, W. Raymont Miller said he hasn't heard a definite yes or no from Trans-Mo as to whether the airline will operate in Sikeston.

Sheriff Simmons said he also "expected to make an early arrest of a local person in the breakage of glass and some thefts of men's wearing apparel that occurred "Sunday morning". Records show that Friedman's Department Store, on South Main Street, lost, according to management, "one half of its stock of men's trousers, after thieves broke out the large front door glass and gained entry. We are still checking inventory to see exactly what all was taken."

Laird's Furniture Store, near Howard was bitten on the arm, just as Capt. Boes and officer Bob Hutchinson arrived. Finally, aided by the arrival of Chief Spencer Presson and Sheriff Simmons, the crowd was dispersed.

At 3:52 a.m. Sunday a fire was discovered in the rear of the E.C. Robinson Lumber Co. on South Locust Street, where two lumber bins were on fire and at 4:11 a.m. a fire was discovered outside Simpson's Warehouse, owned by the Bock Oil Co., located on Railroad Street. Both burnings occurred in the Negro section and officials says "arson is suspected and that the fires causing only minor damages in both instances, are being investigated."

Police records show that officer Robert Smith, Jr. was patrolling the Negro section afoot when he heard a loud argument and went to the scene, at 1:30 a.m. Sunday, to break it up. Planella Hart Haslett, formerly of Charleston, now a Chicago resident, refused to follow Officer Smith's request to "stop arguing." Instead she began cursing him, later grabbed him, jerked him aside as he attempted to arrest her. Her sister, Ruby Townsend, Charleston also allegedly attacked Smith as he tried to hold both women, after calling for help on a hand radio. The gathering crowd of some 30 persons began throwing rocks and Officer Smith brought his can of Mace into use, to disperse the crowd. Meanwhile the women fled, Planella going after her husband Wesley Haslett, who arrived and began cursing and threatening Officer Smith and Corporal Ben Stampley, who had arrived to assist Smith.

Officers Stampley and Bill Howard were aiding Smith when Howard was bitten on the arm, just as Capt. Boes and officer Bob Hutchinson arrived. Finally, aided by the arrival of Chief Spencer Presson and Sheriff Simmons, the crowd was dispersed.

Legislative Leaders Push Tax Bills as Session End Nears

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -- House and Senate leaders agreed today to push tax bills raising an estimated $18.5 billion but still stuck fast on an income tax increase.

A House - Senate conference committee agreed the Senate would try to pass a bill to raise the corporate franchise tax to 1-20 of 1 per cent to yield about $9 million.

Meanwhile, the House would take up a Senate bill to boost the taxes on liquor and wine, but not beer, by about $9.5 million.

Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, Senate President Pro Tem, and Rep. Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, House Majority leader, said another meeting would be held after the two houses act on those bills.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for the lawmakers to work out their bitter conflicts or face the prospect of being called back into special session later this year.

Last minute conference committees struggled to work out acceptable solutions on such

Lamson Brothers Closes Office

Lamson Brothers and Co. of Sikeston office, managed by Harris Draughn, closed Friday for consolidation with a Carbondale, Ill., office.

Lamson Brothers, based in Chicago, is consolidating the smaller of its 24 regional offices in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Indiana.

Harris Draughn, 122 North Kingshighway, managed Lamson Brothers for four years after it bought Lowell-Hoit Co. which Draughn managed for 19 years. Draughn, 75, is retiring with the consolidation of this office.

Thieves Hit Catron Businesses

CATRON--Deputy Sheriff Flip Dees and Lilbourn City Marshal Johnny Morton are investigating two burglaries which occurred here Thursday night.

A 1957 Chevrolet station wagon was stolen from Matlock's Used Car Sales.

An undetermined amount of money was stolen from Lloyd Matlock's grocery store when thieves pried open a door to enter and apparently ate sandwiches while in the store.

O.V. Kell, owner of Kell's Grocery heard noises in his store over a home-to-store intercom at about 10 p.m. Thursday. Nothing was missing when Kell arrived at the store a few minutes later.

Four Fined At Charleston

CHARLESTON -- Judge Judy Shelby issued fines totaling $156 in City Court this morning.

Mildred House, Charleston, was fined $17 for failure to yield right-of-way.

Michael Skinner, Charleston, was fined $19 for failure to yield right-of-way which resulted in an accident.

Thomas H. Esbelle, Michigan, was fined $108 and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence for driving while intoxicated.

BY SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

EAST PRAIRIE -- A survey taken last week here indicates tomorrow's vote regarding city manager form of government will be approved. The survey was made by various civic groups in the city.

With 901 of the eligible voters, out of 1100 registered contacted regarding their intentions, 424 persons indicated they would approve a city manager, with 141 saying they would oppose the change and 336 being undecided as yet. The change shows a possible percentage of 47 percent voting approval with 15 per cent against and 38 per cent remaining undecided.

Pro and the con leaders have been outspoken in their reasons for the stands they intend to take Mayor Lloyd Hogan and the board of alderman have led the fight for the change, along with the East Prairie Chamber of Commerce, school officials and civic club leaders.

Indicative of their stands are some of the following statements:

Joe Webb, secretary of the East Prairie Chamber of Commerce: "City management government in East Prairie will not solve all of the problems, but it will solve some of them. Our lack of progress in the past 10 years makes it obvious that we need to make some change in our municipal administration."

"The experience of other towns our size, like Flat River and Bonne Terre, with city managers, report good results. It might work here. I'm sure I'd like to give it a try."

"I firmly believe that the majority of the voters here want to see the change made. If the people who want it will be interested enough to go vote tomorrow, then the issue will carry."

Ed Felts, former mayor of East Prairie and manager of the Shelby Furniture Company: "I would like to see the citizens give the city manager type of government a trial. I know from experience that a part time mayor, who depends on other employment for a living, cannot do justice to his job as mayor."

Mrs. Carey Johnson, chairman of the East Prairie Community Betterment Committee: "Council-Manager City Government is no guarantee of success for every town, however, in East Prairie, we have made no progress over our bigger problems in some time under our present form of city government, and since we are all vitally interested in the prosperity of our town, I certainly hope the citizens will vote yes in Tuesday's election so we can hire a trained man with qualifications and the know-how to help us out of a slump of several years."

Mayor Hogan, a devoted husband and father, a well-known and successful businessman, has in my opinion been a very good mayor. These are all fine qualities, the qualities of a good man and civic leader, but not the best qualifications to manage a town of this size. All our past Mayors, that I can remember, have been men with families and businesses to run, but did not have the training or the time to devote in order to make the correct plans and decisions for all of us. Mayor Hogan has spent a lot of time and effort promoting city

"City managership, which now operates such cities as Flat River, Cameron, Bonne Terre in Missouri and other cities. "No manager would have authority to sign any contracts, or make any agreements, without being approved by the city council."

Suggestions of the passage of a wheel tax, on automobiles, to raise needed moneys, would only cause prices to go up in town. A city license requirement for dealers would not aid the budget to any extent.

Starting salary would be in the $7,500 up classification, according to his qualifications and agreements. Mayor would not have anyone in mind to name, doubt of any local residents wants it, or could qualify for it. Any city manager assistants would have to be approved by city council also."

Mayor Hogan, answering question why he ran, said: "I think it is the duty of any loyal citizen to try and aid his city. If the city manager resolution is defeated I will See No. 1, Page 12

Twenty-Seven Emergency Cases During Weekend at Hospital

Nineteen persons were treated Saturday in the emergency room at the Missouri Delta Community Hospital. Persons treated are Shirley Newton, Sikeston, injured head on car door; Paula Kay Milburn, Sikeston, injured bottom of right foot; Elmer A. Geeham, Sikeston, cut finger while loading lumber.

Lillian C. Haynes, Morehouse, contusion of upper lip, tooth knocked out and some teeth broken from a hit in the mouth with a flashlight; Michael Jo Thornton, La Grange, Ky., ran into wire fence while riding bicycle; Timothy Jackson, East Prairie, cut finger on soda bottle.

Hollie D. Tnanor, Matthews, cut left hand; Dennis James Garrett, Canolou, hit over eye with baseball bat; William E. Stokes, Sikeston, cut right knee; Cynthia Sue Edwards, Morehouse, door hit toe; James R. Gabberry, Sikeston, cut forehead on glass; Sherry Western, Sikeston, contusions and abrasions after being hit by car.

Lanny William Lewis, Lilbourn, injuries from a car accident; Robert Terry Faulkner, Hodgkins, Ill., laceration of left temple from car accident. Mickie J. Reltherford, Milwaukee, Wis., laceration of chin and leg from car accident; Joe Mack Leland, Milwaukee, Wis., cut on forehead from car accident; Arlean Leland, Gary, Ind., puncture wounds on both ankles from car accident. Patsy W. Brewer, Charleston, pain in shoulder, hip, ankle and rib cage from car accident and Michael Leland, Milwaukee, Wis., pain on leg from car accident.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

It is said this is "the last generation of marriage." We hate to think of such a possibility. Also, we are told by someone who claims to know, there are a minimum of 50 couples in Sikeston who are openly living together right now without being married.

A TURNED-ON SCHOOL

Some folks say you can find just about every kind of foolishness in Washington, D.C. After noting a story in the magazine section of one of the city's Sunday papers we are inclined to agree.

The story deals with a communal - type high school in the District. The "school" contains about twenty youngsters, most between 15 and 17 years of age. They are the pupils of four young "teachers" in their early twenties and thirties. The school does not grade the students. The courses are not prescribed. There are no required courses and there is no ranking as to year of study. Students can skip any classes they desire. There are no freshmen, sophomores, juniors or seniors.

There is a formal class center in a nearby church, but most of the study appears to be carried on in the school center, known as "The House." This is a three-story row house in a predominantly Negro section of the city where, according to one student, "I'm sure they think of us as the freaks in the corner house."

Most of the students come from middle and upper-middle income families in the suburbs of Virginia and Maryland. They pay a tuition of $275 and an additional $70 per month "if they wish to live in the House," which is run in the form of a commune. Some of the photos that accompanied the article showed housing conditions significantly less than clean.

There was a picture of the group at dinner with silverware and note paper on the floor. Another showed a group of youngsters in a discussion in what appeared also to serve as a bedroom. The teen-agers, male and female, were lying and sitting on mattresses on the floor, with lighted cigarettes. Clothing was strewn about and the only window covering consisted of a blanket hung over a curtain rod.

The puzzling aspect of this experiment is the parents' part in it. We can understand young people caught up in the fantasy of being part of the turned-on generation, but we cannot comprehend the immaturity of the adult delinquents who allow it. It seems to us that they are doing their children no favor in delaying their entry into what is still essentially a disciplined world.

FLAG DAYS

At one time or another we've all heard or voiced complaints about the meager display of Old Glory on national holidays. More often than not the outcry is justified. Many folks are just too darned lazy to raise the Stars and Stripes. Others take advantage of the holiday to travel away from home and fear they will not return until after dark and in time to lower the flag.

Many businesses are closed on legal holidays and it is an inconvenience for the proprietor to go down to the place of business to put up the flag in the morning and then return to lower it in the evening.

Down in Salem, Arkansas, the Jaycees have come up with a wonderful solution to the problem - a solution so simple and logical that it has added a great deal to the community's business district and to the Jaycees' own image as community leaders.

The Salem Jaycees furnish a flag to any business that requests one. The members put up the flag on holidays, take them down in the evening, and store them until the next holiday. The only exception is in the case of inclement weather. The Jaycee program includes 16 holidays a year; the total cost is a mere $10 per year per flag.

The project reached its high point on Labor Day, when 48 flags were raised over Salem. Since then, six more businesses have requested the service.

Now the Jaycees have undertaken to offer the same service to homeowners. They've set a goal of 75 flags for Thanksgiving Day.

Can you imagine the impression the casual traveler got when he drove through Salem on Labor Day?

But never mind the out-of-towner. Imagine the pride of the businessmen in Salem.

It's a capital idea, and there isn't any patent on it. We hope it will be copied by Jaycees, or equally enterprising organizations in cities and towns across the country, and continue for so long as Old Glory flies.

Meantime, a grateful salute to the Jaycees of Salem, Arkansas.

A pressing question in many small cities concerns the ability of local trade centers to survive in the face of vast population movements to metropolitan areas.

Can positive action be taken by community leadership to retain the prosperity which was once rooted in the small family farm?

When farms are replaced by huge agricultural factories, and men are displaced by machines, the effect on the central trade center may be critical. A trade center cannot exist without the support of people with jobs.

Evidence suggests that something can be done about keeping people and jobs in spite of inexorable changes in the old economic base.

While some communities are suffering from creeping stagnation, others similarly placed are enjoying unprecedented growth and prosperity. The difference cannot be attributed to accident.

A successful community development leader states that specific characteristics identify the community which flourishes during eras of economic transition. He listed:

1. Unselfish and optimistic leadership.
2. Liberal investment in schools and other training facilities.
3. A public which believes that the community is worth saving.
4. Financial institutions eager to invest in local industry.
5. A retail trade center attractive enough to keep the wealth of the community in local circulation.

He added, however, that the forces community could not be brought to focus without a catalyst - promotion in the news and advertising sections of a good local newspaper.

Nothing is more pitiful than to see the wife of a deadbeat go into a store and ask for credit, and be refused.

DON'T BE A GENTLEMAN (or GENTLEWOMAN: You'll lose 4 seconds;

If a car needs to enter a main artery, don't use your brakes. Blow the Horn;

If approaching car wishes to turn left, speed up. That will prevent it;

If the car in front slows to permit a car to turn left, BLOW THAT HORN.

Mr. S. David Freeman, director of the energy policy staff in the office of Science and Technology is quoted as saying: "Regulation has never been considered the ultimate solution in our American economy; the goal of government policy should be to foster free and open competition in every nook and cranny of our... economy."

SLOWER ECONOMY DUE TO MONEY COSTS

While most investors have been watching the gyrations in the stock market, the more important movements were to be found in the money market.

Debt issues of all sorts went to levels undreamed of only a short time ago and, according to what we read, veteran bond men could hardly believe the levels to which money rates had risen. Some agreed privately that the worst is yet to come.

The reason is simple, the cure is available but the accompanying consequences of the cure are enough to make any politician or political economist shudder. The spending public, and this includes governments on all levels, institutions and individuals, appears as of now convinced that inflation - and rapidly expanding inflation at that - is here to stay. They laugh at any talk about deflation. As a result, they are buying now, building now and financing now. They figure that tomorrow it will cost more.

In fact, we have to go back to the early twenties to really see a parallel. The bill for this thinking will have to be paid for many years in the form of 7 1/2 per cent, 7 7/8 per cent and 8 per cent coupons on corporate debentures and up to 6 per cent on municipal issues. It will be a while before money rates decline but when they do the costs of carrying these bonds will be backbreaking.

But there is increasing belief that the inflationary trend can be stopped and will be stopped. Today, the Fed is working hand and glove with the Treasury and the Administration as never before to stop this inflationary trend. The money managers are walking a tightrope. What they are trying to do is to grind the inflation to a halt without grinding the economy to a halt.

But there is a penalty to be paid. It is possible there will be some consumer credit controls and an increase in unemployment to the extent that labor will not be able to ask for such increases which, for example, rose 7.3 per cent in 1968.

We haven't forgotten the 1966 monetary crunch - and we don't agree with the crowd who don't believe that the money restraints will have an effect.

C.P.A. Patmore says youngsters today want us to tell it like it is - but just wait until they fill out income tax forms.

-Will The C-5A Be OK?-- Despite all the bad publicity and its cost overruns, the C-5A may turn out to be a pretty good airplane. This is the gist of a confidential memo to Secretary of Defense Mel Laird from Air Force Secretary Bob Semans in which Semans has defended the C-5A and has reported that its flight tests have been "encouraging."

"The information received from the aircraft flight test program," wrote Semans, "has been encouraging. "Four aircraft have accumulated over 230 flying hours. Based on this preliminary flight test data and wind tunnel analysis, the aircraft is forecast to meet or exceed all of its performance guarantees.
Its handling and flying qualities are reported to be excellent by the pilots who have flown the aircraft."

Semans complained that the press had misrepresented the amount of the cost increase. In 1964, Semans said, the Air Force estimated that 120 planes would cost $3.1 billion-the figure widely quoted in the press.

Subsequently, the airforce
decided to increase the payload, which added $350 million to the cost. Inflation added another $500 million, and another $840 million worth of spare parts and ground equipment was ordered.

The actual overrun was not the full $2.1 billion that the press has reported, but only $382 million, according to Semans.

In any case, Semans notified
the Secretary of Defense that a management review of the C-5A program has been started.

June 30, 1958--Admission of Alaska as the 49th state approved by Senate.

With TV, radio, and records,
what kid has time these days to listen to reason?

Music is such a wonderful thing. Do you realize that if it wasn't for music, a lot of people could be put in jail for what they do on a dance-floor?

Just saw a letter in an advice column: "I've have a 16-year-old daughter who doesn't drink,
smoke, use drugs, or stay out late. She isn't pregnant and she's a better design. They also contended that Lockheed's bid was unrealistically low. They were overruled, however, by the Pentagon brass.

-Crime Crackdown--
Attorney General John Mitchell is quietly forming special task forces in key cities to crack down on organized crime.

Like Elliot Ness's
Gangbusters in the roaring 20's, the new task forces will be armed with wiretaps, income tax returns and every other legal weapon that can be used against the racket bosses.

The crackdown will be directed by Henry Petersen,
Chief of the Justice Department's organized crime section, who has been itching to launch an all-out drive against the Mafia.

Under the Democrats he was restrained by Attorney General Ramsey Clark, who was opposed to indiscriminate use of wiretaps.

Clark also felt that the Justice Department should concentrate on the less glamorous but more compelling problem of combatting crime in the streets. While this is a problem for local police, he was convinced it would take all available federal resources to whip the local forces into shape
to meet the challenge.

Clark wanted to spend all the taxpayers' money he could lay his hand on to improve the standards, training and equipment of local police forces.
This would do more to reduce the crime rate, he believed, than chasing the big-name racketeers who make headlines.

Mitchell, however, is looking for dramatic results which, he feels, will help bring back a law-and-order atmosphere in the country. He is supported by Deputy Attorney General
Richard Kleindienst and Assistant Attorney General Will Wilson, both gang-ho crusaders who are willing to use all available means to attack organized crime.

They have now unleashed Petersen, who is going ahead with the gang-busting drive he long has been urging.

straight-A student. Tell me, Englishman.
where did we go right?"

"MY son has zoomed up the ladder: five years ago he was wearing my old suits... now I'm wearing his!"

Junior decided to pick up some extra money in the summer by mowing lawns. He did so well his father, a high powered sales manager, was surprised to see Junior leave later than usual one morning and asked why the boy was not out getting an earlier start. "Well, dad, I found out that I can sell more people on letting me do the job when they are already 1/2 way through."

I taught my daughter how to drive this summer. A friend asked how long it took --
"About two and a half cars."

During a rehearsal of one of his plays Sir James Barrie became irritated with the producer - his young son - who was convinced that he knew it
all. Repeatedly the youth interrupted the proceedings to criticize. After one such outburst Barrie turned and said:
"My boy, you will have to be more patient with us, after all we are not all young enough to know everything."

FASHION HIGHLIGHT:
Lithier-looking fabrics that leather the real thing, sleek "wet-look"
jackets in fabrics of nylon and polyester, tapestry textures in knits and corduroys and the wide diversity of knit fabrics that are finding their way into every article of apparel - will be featured this spring and establish their mark in the fashion picture, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

Ask any woman her age, and 9 times out of 10 she'll guess wrong.

In a club car heading east out of Chicago, a couple of Englishmen started talking to an American.

"I say, have you ever been in England?" asked the younger

Englishman.

"I'll say," said the American.
"I spent two of the wildest years of my life there."
"What did he say?" asked the slightly older Englishman.

"He said 'he's been in London, father.'"
Later the young man asked,
"Did you by any chance meet a Hazel Wimbleton in London?"
"Hot Pants Hazel?" the American exclaimed, "I'll say!"
He shook up with that broad for three months before I left for the States."

"What did he say?" asked the older man.
"He said he knew mother,"
answered the young Englishman.

"Would you really put yourself out for me?" she cooed.
"You bet I would," he assured her.

"Oh, thank you," she smiled,
"and please close the door on your way out."

"People don't believe in God anymore."
"Sure they do. You can tell by the way they drive."

It isn't what the boys and girls know today that bothers their parents. It's how they found out.

The behaviour of some children suggests that their parents embarked on the sea of matrimony without paddles.

Children would all be brought up perfectly if families would just swap kids. Everyone knows what ought to be done with the neighbor's kids.

Doc. Duncan Says

Dear Editor,

In the past war on dope and dirty politics moved at a rapid pace until the upper crust began to get tangled in the web, then the pie of peace, was passed around, all parties in the game
taking a puff, then shortly thereafter peace was in effect
and everybody's lived happily thereafter.

Doc Duncan

straight for the naked theatre.
But it's good to report that this union is trying to protect the dignity of its people. It is attempting to prevent their exploitation, their eagerness to be performers, their need to work or go hungry.

In a recent letter to the membership, Equity's Executive Secretary, Angus Duncan, wrote that it is the union's duty to see that no actor is either "cajoled or coerced" into accepting nude roles or into sexual activity onstage.

... In the light of testimony given to the (union's) President's Planning Committee and communications
received... some warning signs
clearly pointed to abuses now practiced and to further possible
infringements on the performer's rights and immunities," wrote
Mr. Duncan.

"the exploitation of the performer seeking a job is clearly demonstrable. When a performer is required to disrobe as the sole prerequisite for a job then both his dignity and his artistic integrity are under attack."

The union has been angered
by financial backers of plays crowding in on auditions where young men have been forced to audition in their shorts and young women in the nude -- if they want the part.

... all persons present
must have a clear professional and artistic connection with the production or the whole thing
may become a degrading peep show," wrote Dr. Duncan.

It's just fine to see this union coming to the defense of the members, many of whom are as unsophisticated and naive as they are beautiful people.

It is good to see Equity set ethical standards: "Equity cannot be guided by considerations of morality,
literary merit or artistic value,"
says Mr. Duncan's communication. "Equity has never in the past attempted to interfere with an individual's freedom of choice even when such freedom was exercised with little or no caution and even when the performer sought to earn his livelihood in vehicles of dubious artistic value. The same standards of non-interference with individual choice should apply here, especially in view of Equity's often stated opposition to censorship in any form."

"The only possible rationale for Equity's getting involved in these matters at all is the possible abuse of our members in various forms and their possible vulnerability vis-a-vis
the law."

Equity then reports the set
of rules on nudity and sex
during auditions, rehearsals and during the run of the play.

The need for these rules attests to the rottenness of what passes for theatre, culture, art and conversation in this fashion-setting, pace-making
"big town."

Someone should close it down for a week so it can cleanse itself.

Equity then reports the set
of rules on nudity and sex
during auditions, rehearsals and
during the run of the play.

Rich Widow Mourns Lost Chances

Dear Ann Landers: My husband passed away three months ago at the age of 67. We were married 37 years and I must confess, they were not happy years. We were always poor. Our three children were hand-me-downs. It was nothing for me to walk three miles to save 3 cents on a can of soup or a nickel on a can of beans. We never owned a car. The only trips we ever made were to funerals. Whenever I think of my husband I picture him turning off lights or turning down the heat "to save."

Now all of a sudden I'm a rich widow. Three days before my husband died he told me to look in his tool box for some papers. I was shocked to find a life insurance policy, payable to me for $78,000. A week later I found a bank book taped under a kitchen chair and discovered he had $11,000 in a savings account. That very day I began to look in all kinds of crazy places. I found stock securities in a leather pouch nailed to a beam in the attic. I found another savings book under a rug in our bedroom. (He had started it in 1949 and saved $8200.)

Instead of being happy I am becoming hateful and bitter. I feel that his whole life was a lie. Why did he make us live like paupers when we could have had a decent home, college for our children and vacations? Please answer this question and help me enjoy what years I have left.

--Rags to Riches Widow

Dear Friend: Your husband was mentally ill. In a strange way he enjoyed saving money in secret far more than most people enjoy spending it. Of course it was unfair to you and the children -- a cruel game to put it gently. But the past is over and done with so forgive him, dear, and go on from there. I sincerely hope that you and your children will enjoy the comforts so long denied you.

Dear Ann Landers: Kenneth and I were married a year ago this month. His ex-wife remarried the same week.

I am writing about their children -- 3 and 7. Kenneth's ex-wife has custody. She has left the children alone on numerous occasions. Last week, Kenneth went over there and found the kids alone again. It was 7:30 P.M. When he asked, "Where's Mommy?" the boy replied, "She went to get Tom (her new husband). He's drunk again (How's that for a seven-year-old?)"

I hate to see these two lovely children raised in such a crummy environment. My husband is furious. We have no money for lawyers and court action. Who can we turn to? -- Color Us Blue

Dear Blue: You can turn to Legal Aid. Look in the phone book. And if you don't find it listed, you can turn to the Juvenile authorities the next time your husband finds the kids alone. If your letter is an accurate report it shouldn't be difficult to obtain custody of the children.

Confidential to Sick of This Anemic Relationship: I'm not surprised. It sounds as if the money in his blood is eating up the red corpuscles. I promise you that marriage will not improve the deficiency. It will probably make it worse. Please read the first letter in this column. How interesting that your letter and hers should arrive on the same day!

Give in or lose him... when a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking And Petting -- What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

An unusual and delicious combination of vegetables.
Fish Fillets Potatoes
Cucumber with Red Peppers
Tomato Aspic on Salad Greens
Strawberry Shortcake Beverage
CUCUMBER WITH RED PEPPERS

1 medium or large cucumber, pared and thinly sliced
2 large sweet red peppers, seeded and cut into thin strips
1/4 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter

Into a 10-inch skillet turn all the ingredients except the butter. Bring to a boil; cover and boil gently, stirring several times, until cucumber slices are transparent and pepper is tender-crisp--about 10 minutes. Drain. Mix in butter. Makes 4 servings.

Men's Fashions

By LOUISE COOK
NEW YORK (AP) -- Men's fashions for fall will be more colorful and creative than ever before.

If you don't believe it, just try the idea of bright red velvet pants and shirt topped by yellow suspenders. Or how about a nine-foot scarf around the neck? Or a shiny leather suit?

Weitz admitted that his stovepipe trousers--with suspenders to keep them up and straps under the instep of the shoe to hold them down--"idea stuff." He showed them in plaid wool for day, velvet for evening.

Blass also borrowed from the ladies. Or maybe it was the other way around and he borrowed from the men in designing his women's clothes. At any rate, he featured those long, long striped scarves tossed around on almost all the feminine fashions.

Blass showed the midcoast--another ladies' look--in navy blue with a nutria collar and cuffs.

Oleg Cassini persisted with the Western look, including leather suits and outfits with fringe. He was particularly proud of a black leather suit, belted and deeply vented in back.

Moscow-Mini

MOSCOW (AP) -- Russian girls who show their legs in the streets run a daily gauntlet of jeering and babushkas--grandmothers--but one outraged Muscovite still claims he is "pursued everywhere by miniskirts."

The Soviet version of the miniskirt is modest compared to London or New York. Few Russian girls dare display any thigh, and the micromini is reserved almost exclusively for girls under three.

But the Moscow miniskirt war has reached new heights, with heated debate in the local press.

"Russian girls have reached the limit," said one letter in Literary Gazette. The paper said it was concealing the writer's identity "for obvious reasons."

"Demanding that miniskirts be 'restricted and forbidden,' the writer continued: 'There is no elegance in displaying kneecaps and the whole naked thigh. Wherever people sit in public places, there is no way to shield the eyes.'

"In the bus, in the park, in the theater, on the streets, in the squares, at sea and on land--everywhere one is pursued by the mini."

The man claimed "emotions worked up in normal men over miniskirts are harmful." He did not elaborate.

Literary Gazette writer A. Raskin replied, "Let's talk about this calmly, man to man, father to grandfather. Raskin said he is old and miniskirts don't appeal

Stopgap Surtax Measure Keeps Same Withholding

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government could collect, but have the votes to grant Nixon's request.

The next day, the Senate passed the temporary measure under the surtax bill up for final passage. The House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said after a GOP caucus that he counted an additional 40 Republican votes or 170.

There are 388 Republicans in the House. If Ford's count was correct, Nixon's proposal needs only about 80 of the House's 365 Democratic votes to gain passage.

Many of the surtax extension opponents are holding the measure hostage for more sweeping tax reform than was drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The bill authorizes the government to continue collecting the tax through July 31. The money would have to be refunded to taxpayers at the end of the year if the tax itself is not extended.

Later extension of the tax without the withholding the 7 per cent investment tax extension, on the other hand, would force employers to restart the collection machinery halted by the surtax expiration.

And supporters of the stopgap bill say employers couldn't change their withholding formulas in time, Nixon's plan after the four-day Independence Day recess.

The temporary bill drew much less opposition in Congress than original proposals to extend the surtax through Dec. 31, then cut it by half through the first half of next year, as President Nixon asked.

Issuance of Paper Gold Deliberated

PARIS (AP) — The world's money men begin deliberations today on how much and how rapidly they should issue "paper gold" that may one day replace the real metal in national treasuries.

Central bankers and representatives of treasuries will discuss the matter through Tuesday at committee meetings of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD). It debates over curtailing cigarette advertising.

The report is expected to go to Congress next week. Although officials decline to give any details indications are that it contains new evidence linking cigarette smoking to cancer, heart disease and bronchial troubles, as well as other ailments.

It certainly contains no significant negative evidence that refutes any previous conclusion," said Dr. Daniel Carlucci, director of the Clearinghouse on Smoking and Health.

James, in charge of putting out the report, said its findings were part of a "continuing study that is being woven" linking smoking to disease.

The report is due to be sent to Congress July 1, one day after the expiration of the 1968 law that forbade government regulation of cigarette advertising for four years.

Under the 1965 law, manufacturers were required to carry a health warning on all packages of cigarettes that said: "Caution: cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The House of Representatives, in what amounted to a solid victory for tobacco interests, last week approved a bill that would toughen the warning on cigarette packages but also would extend the ban on regulation for another six years.

Both the Federal Trade and Communications commissions have said that if the law expired they would take steps that eventually would end all advertising of cigarettes.

The new bill passed the House with a 218-198 vote. The House majority was 218-198.

The opinion of the new Senate, Democrat Frank Moss of Utah, has promised detailed hearings by his Commerce subcommittee and has said that if all else failed he would try to block the bill by filibuster.

The new smoking report will be the third put out by the government since the 1964 general's famous 1964 report that pointed the first official finger at cigarette smoking.

The National Clearinghouse compiles its annual report from published or soon-to-be-published papers written by other doctors and researchers all over the world.

New Planning Approach Explained in Hud Program

MALDEN — New federal Housing and Urban Development city planning will do the planning, and who guidelines and a new approach will receive funds in all cities to city planning were explained under $17.5 million today to Malden representatives at a Crabtree said. This direct fund meeting in Jefferson City last week.

Dan Carr of Gassner, Nathan and Browne Architects and Bill Crabtree, manager of the Johnson administration by the Department of Community Affairs and completed with the Nixon administration.

The direct channeling is expected to bring more projects under HUD funds, Crabtree said. "Except in a few cases, any funds under the old system will receive funds now, Crabtree explained.

The important difference in funding now is that the responsibility for designating funds lies with the state of Missouri and the Department of Community Affairs rather than the federal government," Crabtree said.

Under the new HUD program, each state will receive a block grant from the federal government for utilization to the state.

CHARLESTON — Harold Ray McLendon of Anniston, was fined $17 today in city court on a charge of speeding 50 miles per hour in a 35 m.p.h. zone.

ANNISTON Man Fined
CHARLESTON — Harold Ray McLendon of Anniston, was fined $17 today in city court on a charge of speeding 50 miles per hour in a 35 m.p.h. zone.

JEFFERSON CITY — Dexter D. Davis, state commissioner of agriculture, today ordered a restriction on swine movements in Missouri in order to clear up the current incidence of hog cholera.

Effective midnight, Sunday, the movement of all feeder and brooding swine within, or into, Missouri will be prohibited.

Under the restriction, slaughter swine may be consigned directly to livestock markets for sale to slaughter, or directly to slaughtering establishments.

"The restriction on swine movement will allow the veterinary division to bring the current outbreak under control," Davis said. "We're definitely of the opinion that we will be able to clear up the current problem of swine movements in a matter of a couple of weeks," he said.

No time limit was set on the restriction, however Davis said the Department would continually evaluate the situation and would lift the major source of the current restriction as soon as possible.

He noted that while the restriction period for hog cholera virus can vary, he expected the present situation to improve within 21 days after the restriction is in effect, Arkansas.

Davis' action has the support of Missouri's swine industry and has been taken in the best interests of swine producers.

Forty-two cases of hog cholera have been confirmed this month by the Department's veterinary division. In each instance, state and federal veterinarians moved to de-populate the infected animals and reimburse owners for their loss.

Prior to this month, hog cholera incidence in the state had been decreasing.

Dr. H. J. King, assistant to the state veterinarian, said the situation was not as serious as it had been coming from the southeast part of the state and had been traced as coming from the restriction is in effect, Arkansas.

King noted that cases thus far in Missouri were isolated and that the disease was not spreading from farm to farm. A number of surrounding states, including Arkansas, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Texas were experiencing a high incidence of hog cholera this year, King noted.

Though Mayor John V. Lindsay is a beaten Republican, he is far from out of it as a candidate for re-election this fall.

It is even possible to argue that he is in a better position than if he had defeated State Sen. John J. Marchi, the winning GOP nominee who topped him by a bit more than 2,300 votes.

Two weeks before the primary, Lindsay himself wondered aloud to two reporters whether it was good or bad for him to capture his own party's nomination.

He was elected in 1965 by a combination of liberal Republican and Democratic votes. In that campaign he was seldom identified as Republican, and his Conservative party opponent, writer William F. Buckley, siphoned off a big share of the basic city GOP vote.

Running for the rest of this year as the designated nominee of New York's small liberal party, Lindsay may hereafter appear not only to many of the city's constituency which elected him before, but also to the blacks and Puerto Ricans who stayed with the Democrats in 1965.

For nearly six months, Lindsay has been muting the fact that he developed a strong following among blacks and Puerto Ricans during his first term. With obvious discomfiture, he hammered away at "law and order" and fiscal soundness themes which he knew were dominant in this primary. The device did not help him.

For one thing, Marchi's stuff on law and order was sterner than the mayor's. For another, Lindsay, in this posture, evidently was not plausible to Republican voters who paint him as a "coddler" of minorities and as "permissive" toward campus violence. Thirdly, many of these same Republicans never liked him in the first place.

It was always apparent to campaign experts in New York, furthermore, that if the GOP primary vote went beyond 200,000 of a total registration of 629,000, Lindsay's chances would diminish. The actual primary vote of 218,000 was just big enough to do him in.

The reasoning on this score was simple. Half the GOP registered vote is of Italian descent, as is Marchi. A substantial proportion of those Republicans who have been coming to the polls in recent elections have been voting not for GOP nominees, but for rival Conservative party candidates whenever they seemed respectable alternatives.

The "law and order" mood which helped Marchi coast Lindsay into the Republican discard also worked on the Democratic side, of course, to nominate City Controller Mario Procaccino over former Mayor Robert Wagner and Puerto Rican leader Herman Badillo.

That opposition, including blacks, Puerto Ricans and at least the middle-to-upper income levels of the big Jewish vote, represents Lindsay's fall hunting ground. Although he may score in that hunt, he may never regain what he lost this year as a national Republican figure.

Robert Moore To Make Report To Gov. Hearnes

NEW MADRID - Robert G. Moore of Boy Scout Troop No. 48 in New Madrid, was selected as the unit candidate for the troop for the "Report to the Governor". This is an outstanding honor because 12 boys from across the United States will ultimately "Report to the President" about the progress of the Boy Scouts of America in 1969.

Robert is an Eagle Scout and has applied for the Bronze Palm award and has received the "God and Country" award. In his troop he has held the positions of Assistant Patrol Leader, Patrol Leader, Den Chief and Quartermaster. His Scoutmaster is Herschel M. Lott.

Troop 48 is sponsored by the Methodist Men's Club; the new pastor of the Methodist Church is Rev. Earl Statler. Robert was a Cub Scout in Pack No. 47 of New Madrid which is presently sponsored by the Rotary Club. Robert is a member of the United Methodist Youth and has participated in a number of worthy community projects. His guardians are Mr. and Mrs. Preston Utterback who live at 426 Vandevender.

Pakistan's name was coined by Moslem students at Cambridge University and is interpreted as "Land of the Pure."

DONNA DIEMBERGER, 1½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Diemberger, Oran, tries out the queen's throne before the Miss Teenage Centennial contest June 27.

Thirty-six foreign nations are represented this year in the student body of the University of Missouri - Kansas City.

The Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Sir:

Regarding your editorial of about one week ago concerning sex education. It is obvious the John Birch society missed this one. In order to clear the air about S.E., it has been reliably reported that before the communists took over China, the Chinese were forced to import their babies from Japan. If that isn't proof of a communist conspiracy, I don't know what is!

Yours truly,
A.A. Rytter

The Public Health Service awarded $31,850 to the University of Missouri - Columbia for continuation of undergraduate training in psychiatric nursing.

Food Tops Consumer Spending In New Madrid County Last Year

NEW MADRID - For New Madrid County's retail merchants, 1968 proved to be a good year, the final figures show.

Because local families, as a whole, were in comparatively good financial shape and spent their money accordingly, expenditures for goods and services hit a new high.

The details are noted in the annual survey made by the Standard Rate and Data Service. It reveals just how much was spent locally for food, clothing, automobiles, furniture, drugs and other items.

Comparable data is given for communities in other parts of the country.

In New Madrid County, the figures show, food was in the top spot. Local residents spent more of their money in that direction than in any other.

Their expenditures in local grocery stores, meat markets, bakeries, delicatessens and other stores selling food for home consumption came to a grand total of $5,050,000.

This was exclusive of the amount spent in restaurants and in other places where food and

Stores, selling furniture and other home equipment and furnishings grossed $1,221,000, as compared with their 1967 volume of $1,196,000.

House Asked to Go On Record in Favor Of Keeping ROTC

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - The House was asked to go on record in support of the Reserve Officer training program at Missouri's colleges and universities.

Rep. Granvil B. Vaughan, R-West Plains, introduced the resolution denouncing the attack on ROTC "by a group of loud-mouthed, fuzzy-thinking, and perhaps foreign inspired critics." No action was taken on the resolution immediately.

Vaughan said "the continued strength of our country depends on a strong military and a strong military depends on a dedicated and well-educated officer corps."

Hog Producers Alerted Against Bovine Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department says hog producers should not use a vaccine intended for control of bovine virus diarrhea as a protection against hog cholera.

Dr. John M. Hejl, head of the department's Veterinary Biologics Division, said that since hog cholera vaccines started to be phased out a number of producers have asked about using the virus diarrhea vaccine as a substitute.

Hejl said this was intended for use in cattle and that administering it to swine "could be a dangerous practice or ineffective" unless carefully tested and approved.

Rotary Club Speaker

DEXTER - Darrel Cole, Dexter Senior High School counselor, spoke to the Rotary Club Tuesday night at the regular weekly meeting held at the Bootheel Cafe.

Cole, a Rotarian, told his fellow club members about the work of a counselor in relation to the students and teachers.

One guest, Dr. F. F. Pries, Poplar Bluff, was present.

The meeting next week will be the annual installation of officers at the 6:15 p.m. dinner meeting.

Cecil Thorn Honored With Testimonial

BLOOMFIELD—Cecil Thorn was honored by the Kiwanis Club at a testimonial dinner Wednesday night, June 18, at the Crowley Ridge Country Club.

Thorn retired February 28, of this year from the United States Department of Agriculture as county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration after 30 years of service.

Elvis A. Mooney, a fellow Kiwanian and Bloomfield attorney, was master of ceremonies. Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club were present and introduced themselves as did the more than fifty persons present. Mr. Thorn's family was introduced.

Informal statements were made by Lloyd Poe, K.W. Blomeyer, and Howard Maupin. Maupin told of the football team of 1925 when Thorn was a half back and he was a quarter back and they tied with Dexter 6-6.

Harry Vogt, district director of the Farmers Home Administration of the Rolla District, was the speaker of the evening.

Charley Graham, president of the Kiwanis Club presented Thorn with a gift, of a salad bowl set made of Walnut, grown in Missouri, made in Missouri and sold in Missouri.

Thorn is enjoying retirement on his farm in West Pleasant Valley.

LONDON (AP)—The Roman Catholic hierarchy of England and Wales has approved a new ecumenical venture. Nuns may now help chaplains of all denominations with hospital work and, if their superiors approve, will be encouraged to offer themselves for appointment as church sisters in state hospitals.

If You Were the Judge

Cab Drivers Must Assist Drunken Riders From Car

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Sadie didn't act much like a lady when she entered a taxi cab. She had been in a bar for several hours and had consumed several "wheel barrows."

As a result, when she entered the cab, she wobbled like one. And when she finally arrived at her destination, things hadn't improved. She open the door, hiccupped once or twice, then fell face forward into a muddy ditch.

When panned out of the mud-hole, Sadie sued the cab company for her injuries.

"Considering my condition," she complained to a judge, "the taxi driver should have shown a little more gallantry, or at least he should have helped me out of the cab."

"Not on your life," retorted the cabbie. "I have enough trouble handling women when they're sober. To get involved with one that's drunk would have been pure lunacy."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the cab company pay shakedown for her injuries?
This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a cab company must exercise the highest degree of care for the safety of its passengers. If a passenger is intoxicated, concluded the judge, the cab driver must assist the passenger in alighting from the cab. (Based upon a 1962 Louisiana Court of Appeals Decision)

Word has been received that Scott Mays has reached France. Scott had been in service in this part of the country, but failed to cross the pond and so he re-enlisted in the services. Scott is just 19 years of age.

The Scott Madrid Motor Car Co., expects to move into the new building being erected on Kingshighway about the 10th of this month. This garage has more floor space than any Ford garage south of St. Louis and is as well equipped as those in large cities. The formal opening day will be announced later.

F.E. Jordan, who has been in the employ of the G.A. Dempster Furniture & Undertaking Co., has resigned and returned to his home in St. Louis, where he will spend a few weeks with his parents before accepting a position as undertaker on a U.S. Transport.

Eckhardt Named Law Dean

COLUMBIA — Willard L. Eckhardt, a faculty member for more than 30 years, was appointed today to be dean of the School of Law, University of Missouri - Columbia (UMC). Dean Eckhardt succeeds Dean Joe E. Covington, who announced plans to retire as dean.

Dean Eckhardt, a specialist in property law, has been active in faculty committee work. He has been chairman of the influential Faculty Council on University Policy for two years and was recently re-elected to this position for 1969-70.

He was also one of the principal architects of the Retirement, Disability and Death Benefit Plan, and a member of the Retirement Committee in its formative stages.

Eckhardt came to UMC as an assistant professor of law in 1938 and was appointed associate professor in 1941. From 1945 to date, he has been a full professor.

In 1935, he received a B.S. degree in Commerce and Law from the University of Illinois College of Commerce. In 1937, the University of Illinois College of Law granted him the J.D.

Following his graduation from law school, Eckhardt went to Yale University as a Sterling Fellow. The native of DeKalb, Ill., then came to UMC to join the faculty.

While at UMC, Dean Eckhardt has been a visiting professor of law at several universities, including the University of Southern California and the University of Michigan.

His community activities include the Boone County Bar Association, the Missouri Bar Association and the Boone County Historical Association of which he was treasurer from 1967-69. Eckhardt and his wife, the former Sarah Payne of Columbia (B.S., 1936; M.A., 1939; both from UMC), have one son, Willard, Jr., a 1969 graduate of Duke University. Mrs. Eckhardt teaches the fourth grade at West Boulevard School, Columbia.

Covington came to UMC as dean in 1958 from the University of Arkansas. He will return to teaching in the School of Law.

Harry L. Harty of Sikeston was elected Scott County Red Cross chairman of acclamation, succeeding C.L. Malone of this city, at the annual meeting Thursday afternoon at the Library.

Roger Fisher, son of D.L. Fisher, Morehouse mill executive, was notified Wednesday by telegram that he had been appointed by Congressman Orville Zimmerman to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Harry Glenn Cunningham, 38-year-old former soldier, died Tuesday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Bill Cox, 611 South Kingshighway, after an illness of a year and a half.

Malden Man Held

On Theft Charge

MALDEN — Joe Dewayne Bostic, 25, of 511 S. Kimball Street, Malden, was released on bond Tuesday after having been arrested at 12:15 a.m. Saturday on charges of felonious stealing. His arrest was made by State Trooper M.E. Duckworth, Deputy Sheriff Bob McDonald and Malden police officers.

Bostic was charged with possession of an attic fan, valued at $75, as reported missing on May 30 by Johnny Berry; and a Honda CB 160, valued at $500, reported missing the same day from the same home by Charles Berry. Both items were recovered at the Kimball Street address according to the arresting officers.

On The Fence Row

By Tom Brown

BLOOMFIELD — Several farmers in this area have already been irrigating their crops and quite a number of others will be irrigating unless rain comes soon.

Indications are that the use of irrigation will expand considerably in the county this year. Of course, getting set up to irrigate requires a sizeable investment, and a good management is necessary to secure the best results from irrigation and realize a good return on the investment. It is very important that you know which crops you should devote the most attention to as far as irrigation is concerned. It is also important that you know when to irrigate and how much water to apply.

When should cotton, corn, and soybeans be irrigated? Corn will benefit most from irrigation from lay-by time through pollination. Corn yields can be greatly reduced by delaying irrigation during this period. Cotton will benefit most from irrigation from first bloom until three-fourths of the bolls are set. Later irrigations can be expected to delay maturity. Cotton can survive with comparatively little moisture, but yearly boll set is very important, and delaying irrigation after it is needed during this period can be costly. Soybeans will benefit most from irrigation from full bloom through pod filling. Beans can ordinarily stand two weeks of water stress, but long delays will affect pod set, and a shortage of moisture during pod filling will cut bean size and thereby decrease yields.

The soil is your best guide as to when irrigation should be started. Plants are already suffering from the lack of moisture when they begin to wilt noticeably. Corn, cotton, and soybeans have their main root zone in the top two to three feet of soil. When the soil at this depth reaches 50 percent of its field moisture capacity, it is time to start irrigating.

About the most practical way to determine when the soil moisture reaches 50 percent of capacity is to dig into the soil to a depth of two to three feet and feel of the soil in this zone. An MU Guide Sheet entitled "When and How Much to Irrigate," available upon request at your County University Extension Center, contains detailed information along this line including a chart which explains how to determine the moisture content of the soil by feeling of it. We will be glad to provide you a copy if you need it.

How much water should be applied at one irrigation? Irrigation should be continued until the moisture penetrates to a depth of two to two and one-half feet. You can determine how far moisture has penetrated into the soil by probing a steel rod about one-half inch in diameter into the soil. Of course, the rod can be easily pushed into the soil as far as the moisture has penetrated, but you will notice considerable resistance when you try to push the rod deeper than the depth of water penetration.

A black and white cartoon illustration. In the foreground, a woman with dark hair is seated at a table, looking up with a surprised expression. She is holding a fork over a small glass. On the table in front of her is a plate with some food and a small container. To her left, there is a teapot and a box. In the background, a man wearing polka-dot pajamas stands in a doorway, looking down at the woman. He is holding a small object, possibly a fork, near her head. The scene is set in a kitchen with a sink and a window visible in the background. The artist's signature 'NEA, Inc.' is in the bottom left corner, and the date '6-30' is in the bottom right corner.

4 Members of One Guard Unit Die in Red Attack

BARDSTOWN, Ky. (AP) — Bardstown is in mourning. Four members of its National Guard unit were killed in an attack on their base in Vietnam.

On their way home are the bodies of Spec. 4 David B. Collins, 24, Spec. 4 Ronald E. Simpson, 22, and S. Sgt. James T. Moore, 26, all of Bardstown, and Spec. 4 Joseph R. McIlvay, 23, of Willsburg in nearby Washington County.

County Judge James A. Sutherland and Mayor Gus Wilson have proclaimed a mourning period throughout Nelson County from Friday through July 4 when a memorial service will be held in a high school auditorium.

This central Kentucky community has a population of about 6,000.

"We feel a little bit of tragedy has touched all of us," said Patrolman Miles Durbin, cousin of one of the four widows. "The boys are all gone."

Sutherland said, "People seem to feel some resentment since they don't feel that the guard should have been called up in the first place."

The guard unit, Battery C, 128th Artillery, was ordered to active duty May 16, 1968.

Moore was one of 106 members of the 128th, made up of guardsmen from Bardstown, Louisville, Elizabethtown and Carrollton, who had filed suit in U.S. District Court in Austin, Tex., Oct. 3, 1968 in an attempt to halt their shipment to Vietnam.

The district court declined to countermand the orders and the guardsmen appealed that decision to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, where the case is now under advisement.

The Army gave no description of the attack June 19 that killed the soldiers, the families said.

"It's just God's will and we'll have to accept it," said Mrs. Robert Simpson, sister-in-law of Ronald Simpson. "He will have a military funeral with Masonic rights."

"She's holding up pretty good," Mrs. Simpson said of the dead soldier's wife, Deanna, who just returned home from the doctor. "She was due to have their first baby at the beginning of the week," Mrs. Simpson said. Moore is survived by a 2-year-old daughter. Collins never saw his 2-month-old son.

Attempted Break-in At Charleston

CHARLESTON — William Dale Williford, 518 Helena St., was arrested Saturday and turned over to the state on a charge of attempted break-in.

At 11:18 p.m., police were called to the Davis Gin Co. where Williford was reportedly found on the roof of the building.

Police found two gloves, a screwdriver and a pair of vice grips. Police also discovered the east rear window of the Co. had pry marks on it, and a rail had been removed from the window and broken.

Five juveniles were turned over to juvenile court Saturday after the Lincoln School on Elm Street was broken into.

Eleven softballs, three basketballs and 15 ball gloves were taken. Three ball gloves, one softball and two bats were recovered.

Police found the five juveniles in the school at the time they were investigating the break-in.

Car Stolen

Ronnie Crowell, Essex, told police Sunday morning his white and gold Chevrolet truck was stolen from 103 East Malone Ave. between 11 p.m. and Saturday and 3 a.m. Sunday.

Ann Case, 136 Reuben St., charged Cliff Jones, 217 Edward St. with assault. Ann Case said Jones beat her up behind Cliff's Pool Room on East Malone about 12 a.m. Sunday.

Jane Ann Felker, 708 Taylor St., was treated Saturday at the Missouri Delta Community for a dog bite on the stomach. The bit came from the family dog which has been given rabie shots.

Lily Grove News Widely Read for Changeless Pace

CHILLICOTHE, Mo. (AP) — shot there by a bushwhacker in "The traffic sure was heavy," the Civil War. Mrs. Gann writes what's going on in that neighborhood of farms and hills and hollows and sometimes of happenings as far away as Penitentiary Gulch.

These are troubled times on the campus, in the city and in the world, and in the Lily Grove News there is some relief.

Where else would you find such weather reports as "the weather was so cold the cats froze down to Kenneth and Skipper's."

Or holiday notes like "April fool. Wash your face and go to school" or "Saturday, Feb. 22, was Washington's Birthday. He cut down the little cherry tree with his little hatchet."

And planting advice: "watermelons should be planted the first of May. He (Johnnie Gann) will put mothballs alongside the hills. They keep the bugs away."

Mrs. Gann takes note of the wildlife and their routes of travel. "Mrs. Gann saw five deer go across Virgil Mason's cornfield Friday evening. They were headed south."

The travels of the foxes, when seen, are recorded and the rattlesnakes are paid their final respects when run over by the highway maintenance mower.

There are reports on the condition of Johnnie Gann's automobile, its problems and repairs, and credit is not forgotten when someone helps push it.

Readers keep up with community health. "Johnnie F. Gann sold his tiller. He is going to hoe his garden, but is not able now. And Billy Wilson has a bad cold. He didn't feel like attending church Sunday."

Church services are held occasionally at Lily Grove and an announcement in Mrs. Gann's column that there will be a singing at the church fills the building.

One Lily Grove fan, who now teaches in the Boston, Mass., area wrote her impressions of country correspondents in general and Lily Grove in particular:

"Subscribers of metropolitan newspapers don't know what refreshing, delightful bits of news they are missing. World problems are minimized and emphasis is given to the drama of the individual."

"Where in any metropolitan newspaper can one find such an engrossing and typically human narrative as this:

"Johnnie Gann can't wear his false teeth very good. They do not fit."

Tshombe Dies Of Reported Heart Attack

ALGIERS (AP) — Moise Tshombe, known as the "rubber man" of African politics, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack. The Algerian Press Service reported today. He was 49.

A communique signed by 10 Algerian doctors said the former premier of the Congo and leader of the breakaway state of Katanga appeared to have died in his sleep. It said an autopsy was to be performed today.

The announcement of Tshombe's death came two years to the day after a French plane hijacker brought him to Algeria at gunpoint. The plane had been chartered to take Tshombe from Spain, where he had been living in exile, to Palma de Majorca.

After a deal fell through between Algeria and the Congo to extradite Tshombe to Kinshasa (formerly Leopoldville) to face a death sentence, Tshombe's status became veiled in official silence. He was kept in solitary confinement for two years, well treated but denied contact with the outside world.

Tshombe earned his nickname by showing remarkable political resiliency in rebounding from utter defeat after the fall of Katanga in 1963 to become premier of the Congo in July 1964. The man with the moon face and toothy grin inspired no in-between emotions among Congolese. He was either loved or hated.

Moise-Kapenda—which stands for "Moses Beloved"—Tshombe was born in Musumba Nov. 10, 1919. His father was a wealthy African businessman in an economy controlled by Belgians.

continue in office and do the very best I can as mayor."

Clay Hunter and Noome Bruce, just back from attending a industrial meeting in Jefferson City, point out that it was stressed at that meeting that "a city must be able to offer manufacturers who are seeking new locations, something for their decision to move to a particular place. And, since we can offer nothing, due to the condition of our water and sewerage systems, it is imperative that we get a governmental change that will assure improvement in these facets of daily city life."

The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at sunset — approximately 8:22 p.m. Tuesday.

TENTATIVE APPROVAL OF LOCATION MO. ROUTE 162 NEW MADRID COUNTY

A TENTATIVE LOCATION for an approximate four-mile section of route 162 in New Madrid County has been approved by the Missouri State Highway Commission. The proposed relocation begins at the Route 153 junction in Gideon. It extends east, with the first 2½ miles of the proposal located parallel with present Route 152 but on the north side. About 1½ miles east of the east city limits of Gideon the routing extends southeasterly, first on one side of the present Route 162 and then the other to improve alignment. The new line terminates on present Route 162 about a half-mile west of Route B. Engineering studies have indicated that the approved location would be the most practical means to facilitate movement of traffic in and through the area.

Mama Cass TV Hour Provides Musical Lift

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Mama Cass Television Program" on ABC Thursday night was a very pleasant, music-filled hour. It also seemed to be a try out for some group singers who, like Cass, were eager to go it alone. Miss Elliot placed her plump foot on the first rung of the success ladder as a member of the popular Mamas and the Papas quartet. Among her guests on the special were Mary Travis, without the other two members of the Peter, Paul and Mary trio, and John Sebastian, who once was a part of The Lovin' Spoonful. They were interesting in their solos, but it seemed that the former group singers—except Cass—were more comfortable and relaxed when working with other singers. Miss Elliot has a beguiling way with a song—forthright, sweet and true. From popular standards like "Dream a Little Dream of Me," by Cass to John Sebastian's haunting compositions, the musical segments were outstanding.

The rest was a bit of a come down. Buddy Hackett's funniest moments came when he was explaining why he quit gambling at Las Vegas—"They've added something called baccarat so now you lose in French." The two sketches aimed more for irony and pathos than comedy and just escaped being embarrassing to watch. Buddy played a hospital patient about to have eye bandages removed and learn if he would see again. A romance had developed with another patient—Cass—with a broken arm. The snapper came when Buddy left and the fracture patient picked up a blind person's white cane and was helped off.

Barbara Bain and Martin Landau played a shy, elderly man and woman hunting new mates at a computerized dating bureau. They liked each other, but the computer never matched them, so each walked out alone. The program obviously was taped several months ago. Since then Cass has gone on a well publicized and highly successful weight reduction regime.

School Levies Falter Again

ST. LOUIS (AP)—School tax increases had another rough day at the polls in the St. Louis area Thursday. Voters in the Hillsboro R-3 District of Jefferson County did approve a 90-cent increase and a $383,000 bond issue for school construction.

But tax increase proposals failed in the Normandy, Riverview Gardens and Wellston districts of St. Louis County. All needed two-thirds majorities.

Hillsboro voters, balloting for the fifth time on the proposals, gave the tax increase and bond issue a 73 per cent majority vote. The vote was 618-221. The increase raised the school levy to $5.75 per $100 assessed valuation. The Wellston Board of Education met Thursday night and decided to resubmit the same proposed 98-cent increase in a July 12 special election.

The Riverview Gardens Board said it would hold a public meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday to decide what course to take.

Wallaces Unveil Official State Photo of Lurleen

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Former Gov. George C. Wallace and his 8-year-old daughter Janie Lee unveiled the official state portrait of the late Gov. Lurleen Wallace in the rotunda of the state Capitol Wednesday as hundreds watched.

The portrait of Alabama's only woman governor, by artist Dmitri Vail of Dallas, Tex., will hang alongside that of Wallace, who preceded his wife as Alabama's chief executive.

Districts Must Be Based on Census

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — In setting up county court districts with a population as nearly practical as possible, 1960 census figures must be used, Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth has ruled.

He advised G. William Weier, Jefferson County prosecuting attorney, the courts have long recognized the census figures as the basis for such redistricting.

Pop Music Field Not All Controlled by Young Set

Tri-County Trade School Approved

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He has the build and bearing of a pro football player, yet Mike Maitland declares: "In this business I'm considered an old man, I'm 48 and that puts me far on the other side of the generation gap."

"This business" is the pop music field, which gets younger all the time. Yet despite Maitland's advanced age, he has been able to manage one of the most successful operations in the industry—Warner Brothers-Seven Arts Records.

All the big film companies have record division but none were more successful than Warner-Seven Arts. Last year total music operation grossed $46 million, up from $25.5 million. In the fast-changing field of today's music that is no small accomplishment.

When Maitland came to Warner Brothers Records (before the merger with Seven Arts) eight years ago, the operation was three years old and its principal assets were the Everly Brothers.

"The company had been doing well by putting out albums at a time when almost any album would sell," he explained. "Then a change took place in the industry. The public became more selective, and Warner Brothers records was caught in the squeeze."

Enter John K. "Mike" Maitland, Detroit-born, graduate of Washington University at St. Louis, U.S. Air Force and Capitol Records. Within six months he had come across a trio of folk singers, Peter, Paul and Mary, who exploded on the record scene.

Maitland discovered a fat man who used to sing parodies at parties, Allan Sherman delivered Jewish versions of standard songs and became a record sensation. Next came the buttoned-down comedies of Bob Newhart, a big success. An even bigger seller has been Bill Cosby—"He's in the Tijuana Brass class; five of his albums have sold over a million and a quarter units, and a sixth will soon do so."

Maitland admitted that Warner Brothers was becoming known as a comedy house, and he sought to diversify. A major change came in 1965, when Warner Brothers took over Reprise Records in a deal which involved founder Frank Sinatra's services in films.

"At that time Trini Lopez was the big star of Reprise," Maitland recalled. "Then Nancy Sinatra became hot with 'These Boots Were Made for Walking,' and Frank's 'Strangers in the Night' was a superhit, selling big in many foreign countries in English."

"Then Dean Martin hit out of nowhere when one of our producers, Jimmy Bowen, introduced him to the country field."

MALDEN — The Tri-County Trade and Technical School at Malden has been approved as an area vocational school by the State Department of Education.

Alva DeVault, superintendent of Malden schools, said that he was notified officially this week by Hubert Wheeler of the Department of Education that the Malden school has been approved.

Approval at the state level will mean more money for the school and state participation in any building programs. Up to this year the Trade School failed to meet the requirements for state approval inasmuch as they offered only four units of training — general carpentry, electric wiring, body and fender repair and automotive mechanics. State approval as an area vocational school requires a minimum of five units and this requirement was met this year with the addition of machinist operations.

The local trade school was the first to be set up in the Bootheel area. It was done so on a local level through cooperative efforts of Malden and neighboring school districts.

A total of 156 students are now enrolled from six different school districts. Malden has 44 students enrolled, Campbell 18, Holcomb 11, Clarkton 14, Gideon 16 and Portageville 53.

In addition to high school students, about 100 adults are being trained at the school facilities under the Manpower Training Development Act in cooperation with MAMOS.

Paintings in Shapes Created of Young Artist

By CAROL WERNECK
Janna, Doodah, Apoclypso, Shooflypie, Nitarita, Magpie, Ojo Rojo, Ahorasenora — the names are mainly labels.

Some are whimsical. Others relate to the objects, William Rothwell Sapp, Jr. says about his most recent venture in art, three-dimensional paintings.

"I became bored with frames," Sapp, former resident of Sikeston, says.

In a search for a form of art with life to it, Sapp found himself in the midst of plywood, muslin and sheet metal rather than canvas, an easel and a frame.

The three-dimensional objects are shapes, to be used just as a framed painting is used. A wall serves as frame for these paintings rather than pieces of measured wood.

The shapes, or three-dimensional paintings, are made of muslin stretched over plywood and lifted by sheet metal. Acrylic paint adds color and strength to the muslin.

Sapp says that "everything I do finds its way into the next work that I do."

The shapes started with paintings of figures in space. These figures dwindled to one figure. Then Sapp began to extend the idea of the figures.

The figures became repetitive to Sapp. "They weren't alive enough," he says.

As he became bored with the figures, in space the artist unconsciously found three-dimensional paintings.

Although no one shape represents any single thing, there are identifiable sources — river stones, airplanes, Mexican craft, telephone scribbling and the bodies of women.

"I want an unsophisticated art, a simple craft, perhaps, a range of imprimitable feeling," Sapp says.

The shapes are the beginnings of an integration of purely decorative and formal paintings.

The three dimensions make them more a part of a person's life. "There's something about three dimensions you've got to take cognizance of," Sapp says. "It's like an automobile coming toward you, you have to take notice of it," he said.

Sapp does few traditional paintings. He views traditional painting as a craft, not as an art. Most of Sapp's traditional paintings are portraits.

The shapes were last shown in April at the University of Missouri Art Gallery in Columbia and the drawings, from which parts of the shapes originated, are on exhibit at the Garden Gallery in Raleigh, N.C.

Earlier paintings of Sapp's were shown at the 8th Colorado Invitational Art Exhibit at the Orman Campus College Center. Sapp, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Sapp, Sr., 405 Edmonson St., graduated from Sikeston high school in 1961.

He obtained his master of arts degree in painting and sculpture

He plans to enter the Army, July 16. After that, he will return to Adam State or set up an art studio.

Eager Children Take Part In Headstart Program

EAST PRAIRIE NEWS
by Shirley Pritchett

EAST PRAIRIE—Happy, carefree, smiling and eager are a few of the adjectives which come to mind when you visit a Headstart Program Center. 162 boys and girls, four and five years of age living in the East Prairie area, are being introduced or re-acquainted with the process of learning — adjusting to being away from home for the first time, meeting and enjoying and cooperating with other children — by attending the Delta Area Headstart Program this summer. The program which began June 9, will continue through July 25 at the R.A. Doyle School in East Prairie and the Dorena School.

Mrs. Ray Melton, coordinator of the East Prairie Center, explained the four main services offered through the program: educational, medical, social, and nutritional. "We stress the education and medical services in our centers. Since time is an important factor we feel these will benefit the children most," said Mrs. Melton. A complete medical program will be carried out with each child receiving a physical examination including blood tests, tuberculosis tests, and eye, ear and teeth checks, and inoculations if needed. Dr. A.L. Weaver, a local physician, assisted by the school nurse, Mrs. Jack Emory, began the examinations Thursday, June 19. Medical records will be made on each child and transferred to his school file when he enters school.

Classes begin each morning at 8 a.m. with eight teachers and 16 aides instructing and supervising the children in art, music, story hours, physical education, outdoor play and physical hygiene. At 9 a.m. the children are served a snack of juice, a raw vegetable or fruit. A well-balanced lunch is served at noon before dismissal at 12:30. Preparing lunch each day is a task handled efficiently by Mrs. Claree Jefferies, Mrs. Mable Russell, Mrs. Elio Jones and Mrs. Voner Dunn. Transporting the students home is a man's job and handled by four capable men: George Williams, Alva Denton, James Miller and Paul Busby.

Forty students who attended Kindergarten during the 1968-69 school year are enrolled in a remedial kindergarten class, based on the regular kindergarten program. Classes of 20 are taught by Mrs. Mildred Munson and Mrs. Donald Hubbard. Instructive diversions, object lessons, and healthful games are the primary features being taught.

Special services are offered to families of Headstart students.

Some may have the opportunity to spend a weekend at Wappapello Lake with a special service counselor at the expense of the Headstart program. Each week a nutritional class is taught by Mrs. Bonnie Heard. This week's lesson will be on food preservation and is open to families of students or any interested person wishing to attend.

Social aides for the East Prairie center are Mrs. Billy Fourthman, Pam Hale, Janna Bradley and Miss Evelyn Owens. Annie Lee Craig, Marshall who have helped Elizabeth Caldwell, Laley Duke, Sherman Cox, Charlene Garth, Elizabeth York, Frankie Grissom, Ethyl McCaw, Genever Miller and Roxie Ann Allen.

in the shape the House intended. It would have added everything but wheel alignment, glazing and air pollution control devices. The bill was finally laid over so, Downs said, "The thieves who sell wheel alignment equipment to service stations will have more time to find additional support" for the bill. On the sidelines during the debate, friction grew between Downs and Webster. The height of their battle came when Webster, trying to discuss the bill with Downs, threw a copy of the bill in Downs' face.

Acting Director Maneuver Legal, Says Danforth

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes can legally name "acting directors to executive departments and avoid the need for immediate Senate confirmation, Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth said Wednesday. Danforth made the ruling in response to a request by Sen. Robert A. Young, D-St. Ann, chairman of the Senate Committee on Gubernatorial Appointments. He and Hearnes have been at odds recently and Young has been especially bitter at the governor since a push license fee job was taken away from Young's wife in St. Louis County. Hearnes has named three "acting" department heads in the past month and has gotten away from having to seek immediate "advice and consent" of the Senate as the Constitution requires.

Danforth said an acting director is considered a deputy or representative and not the department head as defined by Missouri's Constitution. Hearnes has recently named an acting director of revenue, acting purchasing agent, and acting superintendent of the insurance division.

Both Young and Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, Senate president pro tem, have attacked Hearnes' policy of naming acting directors and called it a subterfuge to avoid presenting names to the Senate.

Auto Inspection Debate Heats Senate Tempers

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Tensions mounted and accusations flew Wednesday night as the Missouri Senate considered a bill to revise the controversial motor vehicle inspection law. Sen. John E. Downs, D-St. Joseph, offered the measure that would limit inspection to brakes, lighting equipment, signaling devices and steering mechanisms. It would take out safety requirements on wheel alignment, horns, mirrors, windshield wipers and exhaust systems—most of the items that caused the hue and cry from Missouri's motorists when the law went into effect Jan. 1. Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage, a member of the Senate Roads and Highways Committee that approved the bill, offered a substitute to limit inspection to tires, brakes and lights, then offered an amendment to include wheel alignment. Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, said he thought the Senate owed it to the public to do something about the mistakes it had made two years ago when it enacted the law. Sen. Noel Cox, R-Ozark, who said he would always be against safety inspections, offered an amendment that would have repealed it entirely. That move lost, 12-20 on a roll call vote. Then, Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy, offered an amendment he said would put the bill back
